NEW! The ABCs of Ability: An ABC book about the lives of adults with disabilities

We are a group of six adults living with disabilities. Together with creator Susan Powell and photographer Larry Wells, we wrote this picture book. We want you to know about our lives. We have used each letter of the alphabet, along with a photograph, to describe what we think is important about being included in everyday life. From the foreword by Annabel Lyon: "Who should read this book? I'd recommend it to anyone who wants to learn more about the life of someone in their community or family living with a disability." $25 (10 for $200). 2012.

NEW! From Institutions to Individuals: On becoming person-centred

Eighteen voices gather in this new collection of writing by academics, researchers, self advocates, parents, service providers and spiritual leaders to show a variety of the wonderful discussions that are taking place all around the world. Community Support and Special Education workers and students (and anyone who cares about someone with a disability) will learn a lot from these essays about leadership of all kinds within the disability rights movement - perhaps the most interesting civil rights movement of our times. $25 (10 for $200). 2012.

NEW! Getting to Community: supporting people with developmental disabilities in their pursuit of the good life

Susan Stanfield, educator, author and Spectrum Society founding director has written an important new book for front line community support workers, focusing on promoting self determination and great lives for people with disabilities. From a review by Barbara Trader, TASH Executive Director: "Susan offers an elegant and precise voice to a new era of supporting interdependence and authentic roles for people with disabilities as they make their own choices in their homes, workplaces, neighbourhoods and associational lives." $25 (10 for $200). 2012.

The Goode Life: Memoirs of disability rights activist Barb Goode

Renowned self advocate Barb Goode is an example of someone who does express herself, who supports the self-expression of others, insisting (in her gentle but firm way) on language everyone can understand, who has developed and tended her own network which she freely shares. She's found her voice. We were honoured that Barb entrusted us with a role in this important goal of hers. "A hero who deserves to be included in the same breath as Terry Fox and Rick Hansen." Al Etmanski, author of Safe and Secure: Six Steps to Creating a Good Life for People with Disabilities. $23 (10 for $180). 2011.

101 Ways to Make Friends: Ideas and conversation starters for people with disabilities and their supporters

This popular book, used by families, self-advocate groups and in classrooms has been slightly revised in a new edition after selling out of the first printing. Illustrated by Aaron Johannes. "With research showing the power of networks and relationships, this little book is very timely. Not only does it capture the essence and importance of friendship, but it provides concrete strategies for people with disabilities, their families, and people who provide support." John Lord, Researcher and Author, Pathways to Inclusion: Building a New Story with People and Communities. $23. (10 for $180). 101 Friends Set* $127.80. 2011.

101 Ways to Facilitate Making Friends: How to engage and deepen support networks for people with disabilities

The companion volume to 101 Ways to Make Friends is a book for facilitators, parents, leaders, self-advocates and teachers of all kinds. This book maps out some of the things we've done in workshops and with individuals and groups of self-advocates which have worked well, as well as ideas shared with us by other network facilitators. Drawings by Aaron Johannes. "Created with the help of self-advocates across British Columbia, 101 Ways to Facilitate Making Friends is a practical, fun, and inspired way to get started in the work of helping people to connect to meaningful and enduring relationships." Dr. David Pitonyak, workshop facilitator and presenter. $27. 101 Friends Set* $127.80. 2011.

(DVD) And That is How I Got Free of My Isolation

Dr. Patrick McDonagh's insightful interviews with some of our most prominent self-advocates about coming out of isolation in segregated places to lead the way to expanded and committed personal networks is an important addition to the history of community living as well as just purely inspiring.
